

JD Turf Hires Sales Consultant

Today J&D Turf welcomes Evan Buckley to our team. Evan will be a sales consultant, focusing on regional opportunities while I continue to assist in managing our existing relationships while extending our reach into new markets and with new opportunities nationally.

I could not be more excited with the hire. Evan's work ethic, skillset and network in the sportsturf community will be immediate assets to J&D Turf. And, he is as committed to quality and customer service as is the rest of our team.

Evan's experience matches the client-mix of J&D Turf, having worked in professional sports, city parks and for a K-12 school system. He began his career as the assistant groundskeeper at Victory Field with the Indianapolis Indians. His municipality experience came next with the Fishers (Ind.) Parks Department before most recently serving as the athletics grounds manager at Brownsburg (Ind.) Schools.

With a focus on further entrenching J&D Turf as the premier sportsturf agency, Evan will also support me in managing the operations and coordination of our renovation, maintenance, construction and application crews.

For those of you who do not know Evan, expect to meet him in the coming months while he learns our business and client base.

J&D Turf now employs seven. Our continued growth makes me proud because I know that means we are doing the right things right, including finding clients who too are committed to quality playing surfaces for athletes of all ages and skill levels.

Thanks goes to all of our clients whose facilities and projects fill our days. Please join me in welcoming Evan to our team. His phone is 317-698-0933 and his email is evanb@j-dturf.com.

Play on!
